

Want to Recruit for MAFA but Having Trouble Finding People?

Here are some ideas for finding “our people”:

Leave stacks of cards on park benches, in grocery stores, and everywhere else you go. Some of these will be thrown away, but we regularly receive emails and calls from people who have picked up cards in all kinds of different places!

Attend Trump rallies and related gatherings. Whether you like him or not, the unmasked people who are not practicing social distancing are found there – hundreds and sometimes thousands of them. He’s back to overflow crowds so if you can’t get into the actual rally you will still find lots of people to talk to outside the venue.

Attend protests. They are going on all over the country every day.

Attend county commissioner meetings, city council meetings, and other government gatherings where masks and related issues are discussed. Almost all of the citizens there are there because they are against the lockdowns and restrictions.

Ask your friends which establishments are not enforcing mask mandates.

These business owners need our business, so shop there – and also are almost certain to be on board with MAFA. In addition to signing up the owner, you can get him/her to pass out cards and recruit others.

Leave a card on the doorstep of anyone who has a Trump sign in the yard.

Again, this is not about him; this is about finding people who are against the nonsense.

Church services at which the nonsense is not enforced.

Many people have stopped going to church either because services are suspended or because the restrictions are ridiculous. There are, however, pastors and ministers who have openly defied orders and are operating normally. Here’s the good news – in addition to meeting people who want their freedoms back, you may find a new church you just love. We are hearing lots of stories from people who were broken-hearted about leaving their church and then found a new church and new friends, with singing, and hugging and all kinds of illegal activities!
