

Make Americans Free Again (MAFA) Thursday Meetings: How to Organize!

In order to take our country back and regain our freedom we need all hands on deck! This means EVERYONE recruits people to MAFA. Here's how to do it:

While you can choose any day and time, Thursday at 6PM is a good choice. The early part of the week can be spent inviting, and people seem to relax on Thursday night – soon the weekend will start! Whichever day you choose, make it consistent. It's difficult to gather a group when the day, time and place of the meeting changes frequently.

The only thing you need to start your group is...one other person willing to start with you. Even if it is just two of you, start getting together at the appointed day and time. We promise you can grow a group if you stick with it.

Where to have your meetings...

Homes, offices, churches (if the pastor is on board), community centers if open – any indoor place will do.

What if there are limitations on gatherings in my state/county/city? Protests and political speech are permitted even during a pandemic. Remember that none of the BLM protesters were arrested for gathering last summer – most were not even arrested for destroying property.

Do be careful, and if there is a place to meet where you will draw less attention, such as a conference room in an office building, someone's basement family room or a business that is still open, these are better options.

Meeting Format

Allow 15-30 minutes for meeting and socializing, depending on the size of your group. One of the benefits of starting a group is allowing people to congregate – they miss this!

Share a few updates – from Pam's videos, newsletter, or from the MAFA website.

Show a film – a list of suggestions is included in this document. You can choose films too – but in our experience 25-45 minutes is the range of time during which people will sit still and pay attention. They really prefer to have conversation.

Discuss the film. Then discuss how to find more people to join your group. Also discuss things you might do together as a group, such as mask-less shopping.

Then open up the MAFA data base on your computer and have your new peeps enter their names and information while they are with you!

As your group grows, some people may decide to break off and form their own groups. This is advisable if people live far away from your meeting place, and also if your space is limited.

How to find people to join your group.

- Any unmasked person you encounter in a store, in the park, etc.
- Ask people you encounter when going about your daily activities, "How are you doing in the midst of this madness?" Th response will tell you whether or not this person is a prospect.
- Business owners who you know are struggling. Local newspapers feature articles about struggling businesses. You can look up business owners you know and may not have had contact with for a while on social media and their posts often reveal their feelings about this debacle. Restaurant and bar owners are a sure bet – most are not going to survive if things do not change.
- Churches that are not following restrictions
- Political meetings, rallies and protests
