MAFA groups operate according to rules and regulations established by the parent organization, Make Americans Free Again, in Worthington Ohio. The role of the MAFA leader is to make sure that the meeting format and activities are consistent with those established by the parent organization, and to keep their groups on track.

MAFA group leaders agree to consult the Weekly Meeting Support section of the website www.makeamericansfreeagain.com regularly in order to keep current on MAFA activities and to retrieve updates to share with the group.

MAFA groups meet in-person only (except in the case of weather-related emergencies)

MAFA leaders follow the meeting format posted in the weekly meeting support section of the website

MAFA leaders restrict the activities of their groups to those expressly permitted by MAFA – posted in the meeting support section of the website

MAFA leaders use only promotional materials posted on the website

MAFA groups raise money solely for the purpose of funding lawsuits

MAFA groups operate solely under the Make Americans Free Again name
